Vocational Personality

Vocational Personality or Vocational Interest is your personality which is related to the type of work you are most suited to do. This tells what kind of work you will be successful in in the future. Based on the type of careers you are most suited to we have determined the type of engineering stream that is the best-suited for you.

Aptitude

Every person has some aptitude. Finding out your aptitude and selecting the right branch accordingly is very important. We have measured your aptitudes on five dimensions – Numerical, Logical, Reasoning, Verbal, Spatial and Mechanical. Each engineering job needs a different combination of abilities and this is taken into consideration while determining the aptitude suitability.
